1.0 INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 Craigdale Housing Association is a voluntary organisation which builds, improves and manages houses, mainly for rent, in the Castlemilk West area of Glasgow. Houses are provided for people with a variety of needs: general family accommodation, houses for elderly, disabled or disadvantaged people. The Mission Statement and Aims are stated within our Business Plan.
- 1.2 The Association's history dates back to the 1980's when Castlemilk was an economically deprived peripheral estate, with poor quality housing.
- 1.3 A local resident's group was established which led to a housing solution in the form of a stock transfer from the Council to Craigdale Housing Association Ltd. This is a community-based Housing Association which registered with the Registrar of Friendly Societies in December 1988, and so operates under an approved set of rules; and with Scottish Homes in April 1989, and so is subject to monitoring and supervisory controls by this government agency who are now known as the Scottish Housing Regulator.
- 1.4 The Association differs from private landlords and developers as it does not trade for profit. It is also different from local authorities in that Craigdale is controlled by a voluntary Board - elected from the local membership at the Annual General Meeting; Board members are not paid for the work they do –a staff team and various part-time service agencies are employed to look after the day to day running of the business.
- 1.5 Craigdale has focused on improving the physical appearance and the appeal of the area and creating new homes when economically feasible and prudent to do so. Ten phases of development have been completed, and each phase has been developed with the needs and aspirations of tenants and the community in mind.
- 1.6 Craigdale allocates its housing based on housing need; sets its own rents and carries out its own repairs. The Association receives grant from the Scottish Government which covers part of the cost of providing houses in each development. The rest of the costs is covered by private finance. Craigdale repays the loan and finances its running costs from the rents paid by its tenants.
- 1.7 The Association operates in a developing performance and regulatory culture and needs to demonstrate accountability in the way it operates, ensure policy and practice protects investment, delivers comprehensive and cost effective services and that standards are achieved.
